Target Areas

The list of target areas for reporting security vulnerabilities are detailed below:

- o As part of this rewards program, the target products are limited to Quick Heal Products listed in the above section.
- o Remote code execution.
- o Local privilege escalation.
- o Self-Protection bypass (from user-mode only).

Out of Scope:

- Any server/back-end (infrastructure) testing including Quick Heal website, web pages/blogs maintained by Quick Heal are deemed out of scope of this program.
- Any testing or target areas other than listed in the "Scope of the Program" section. For e.g.:
  - o Functional defects including User Interface (UI) issues. The same can be submitted through the below link: http://www.quickheal.co.in/quick-heal-support-center/
  - o Network level Denial of Service (DoS/DDoS) vulnerabilities.
  - o Any attacks targeted using social engineering techniques (e.g. phishing, vishing) are strictly prohibited.

Legal Guidelines:

- The rewards program is governed by the terms and conditions detailed in Quick Heal's Vulnerability Disclosure Policy. Kindly, go through the complete policy before submitting your vulnerability report.
- Finder shall maintain the confidentiality of relevant vulnerability report and shall not disclose this information anywhere without prior written consent by the Company.
- Decision of Quick Heal regarding the reports related to Vulnerability, its acceptance and reward recognition shall be final and binding on all the Parties.
- Quick Heal solely reserves the right to amend and/or update this program at its own discretion without any prior intimation or notice.

Submission Guidelines:

- To qualify for the rewards program, all vulnerability reports/submission must be sent to secure@quickheal.com accompanied by all the required information as detailed in the Vulnerability Disclosure Policy. For any additional information Quick Heal will collaborate with the Finder(s).
- Any deviations from the listed guidelines will invalidate the submission and will automatically be not considered for the reward.
- We expect you to abide by responsible disclosure guidelines and be respectful, ethical and helpful in all communication. Offensive comments, abusive or threatening language, deliberate intimidation or making unjustified accusations would be considered unacceptable and invalidate your report.
- Some of the reported vulnerabilities typically, have low security impact. These kind of more commonly reproducible and reported issues would not be eligible for rewards. Some typical examples include but not limited to:
  - o Clickjacking and issues only exploitable through clickjacking.
  - o Injecting exploitable code in RSS feeds.

  Moreover, refer to the areas considered Out of Scope for this rewards program.

Rewards Criteria:

1. Your submitted report is in-line with the then current submission guidelines.
2. You will qualify for a reward if you report at the first instance, a previously unknown issue and the issue results in a code change as part of the fix.
3. In the event of any duplicate reports, the first person to submit the report on the issue would be entitled for the reward. Quick Heal determines duplicates and may not share details on the other reports.
4. To qualify for the reward, submissions must clearly call out the Security impact of the reported vulnerability and must substantiate it with all supporting data and evidences in a meaningful way. The Finder(s) are likely to be asked to defend the impact in order to qualify for a reward.
5. In case any additional information is requested and which is not provided by you within 15 days of the communication, your report will not be considered for the reward program.
6. The reward amount is based on various factors, including but not limited to business impact, severity/criticality of the issue, ease of exploitation, and quality of the report. Low impact or low severity issues will not qualify for the rewards.
7. Any vulnerability resulting due to the underlying Operating System, browsers not patched or up-to-date will not be considered.
8. We verify that rewards are permitted by applicable laws including and not limited to any economic restrictions.

Rewards:

1. The rewards range would vary from INR 3,000 to 35,000 based on the defined criteria, which shall be decided by Quick Heal at its sole discretion.
2. All amounts/rewards payable under this policy to the eligible Finder(s) will be exclusive (i.e. net) of all applicable taxes and duties. Quick Heal will deduct applicable tax at source (Withholding Tax) at the time of payment to eligible Finder(s) at the rates specified in the Income Tax Laws prevailing in India and/or the appropriate Double Taxation Avoidance Agreement, as applicable.
3. Quick Heal would get in touch with you if your submitted report has qualified for the reward.
4. Kindly note that, your participation in the Program is on voluntary basis and the rewards to be given under this Program shall be treated as a Privilege and not as a Right. This Reward Program shall be governed by the Company at its sole discretion, and subject to revocation (partly or fully) without prior intimation or notice and without any liability for the same.
